DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-7, drawn to methods of conducting chemical reactions with an array, classified in class 435, subclass 6.
 - II. Claims 8-12, drawn to array plates, classified in class 438, subclass 1.
 - III. Claims 13-17, drawn to methods of making array plates, classified in class 536, subclass 25.3.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions in Group II and in Group I are related as product and process of use.

The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, the array plates of Group II can be used for chemical reactions of Group I, or for purification of molecules such as DNA, or for hybridization detection assays.

3. Inventions in Group III and in Group II are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the product can be made by the photoresist and fluoroalkylsilane matrix method of Group III or by prior art method of binding to a dot blot membrane or the printing method of Krapko.

4. Inventions in Group I and in Group III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are unrelated because they differ in operation, function and effect with the Group I method being a method of using an array for chemical reactions which results in a particular chemical reaction while the Group III method is a method of making an array using particular chemicals which results in a synthesized array available for use.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. A telephone call was made to Albert Halluin on April 29, 2002, to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
